Exams 2018/19
Information for Students

Introduction

The aim of this booklet is to help you have a successful exam experience!

Strict criteria are set by exam boards, and it is necessary for Herne Bay High School to follow these rules and regulations to ensure integrity of the school as a venue to conduct exams.

Remember we are here to help, good luck!

Exam dates 2018/19:

Monday 13th May 2019

to

Wednesday 26th June 2019

You must be available to sit exams between these two dates.

Before the Exams

Candidate/Exam Number

- Each student has unique candidate (exam) number. This is a four-digit number that you will use on your exam papers, and will appear next to your name on seating plans and registers.
- Please try to learn it!

Exam Timetable

- You will be given a copy of your exam timetable near to the exam period.
- Please check the exam notice board for your exam venue and seating plans.
- You may have an exam clash where two different subjects are timetabled at the same time. You will be contacted individually if this applies to you informing you of the arrangements that will be put into place to resolve this.
- Within the heading on your exam timetable, the sixth line down, is the name that will appear on your certificates. This is your legal name, which has been recorded on the school system. Please check this carefully and inform the school if the name is wrong in anyway.

Equipment

- Make sure you have all the correct equipment before your exams. For example:
 - Pens (Black only)
 - Pencils
 - Ruler
 - Eraser
 - Pencil Sharpener
 - Maths equipment etc.

Any pencil cases brought into the exam must be see-through!

Exam Regulations

- At the back of this booklet you will find a copy of the 'Information for Candidates', which is issued jointly issued by all exam boards. Please read these carefully, if any of these rules or regulations are not adhered to this can lead to potential disqualification, from all subjects.
- The school has a duty to report all violations to the exam board(s).

During the Exams

Attendance at Exams

- It is your own responsibility to check your exam timetable and arrive at school on the correct day and time, and in the correct school uniform.
- You must arrive 15 minutes prior to the start time of your exam. Please wait in the covered courtyard quietly until you are invited to enter the exam room.
- Lateness:
 - If you arrive late for an exam (under one hour) you may still be allowed to enter the exam at the discretion of the Exams Officer. Exam boards have the right not to accept the script of a very late candidate.

Equipment Rules

- All equipment (pens, pencils etc.) should be visible to invigilators at all times, and in a see-through pencil case or clear plastic bag.
- You must write in black biro (no gel pens!).
- No correcting pens/fluid/tape, erasable pens, highlighters or gel pens can be used in your answers.
- Covers or calculator instructions must be removed for exams where a calculator is allowed.

Entering the Exam Room

You are under formal exam conditions from the moment you enter the exam room until the moment you leave the exam room!

- You must enter the exam room in silence.
- You must go straight to your assigned seat.
- Check you have the correct question paper (i.e. date, subject and tier of entry).
 - If you find you do not have the right exam paper, put your hand up and wait for an invigilator to come to you.
- Do not write anything on the exam paper or open the paper up until you have been told to do so by the invigilator.

Exam Papers

- Make sure that you have put your name and exam number on your paper (even if you are using a laptop). Check carefully as different exam boards will ask you to do this in different ways.

- Do not graffiti or write offensive comments on exam papers. If you do this the exam board may refuse to accept your paper.
- Listen carefully to instructions and notices read out. There may be changes to the exam paper that you need to know about.

At the End of an Exam

- At the end of your exam, all work must be handed in, but remember to cross out any rough work you don't want to be marked!
- Invigilators will collect your exam papers before you leave the room.
- You must remain in silence during this time. Remember, you remain under exam conditions until you have left the room!
- Question papers, answer booklets and additional paper MUST NOT be taken from the exam room.
- You must remain seated in silence until you are told to leave the exam room. Please leave the room in silence and show consideration for other students who could possibly still be working.

Fire Alarm

- Don't panic, if the fire alarm sounds during an exam the invigilators will tell you what to do. If you have to evacuate the room, you will be asked to leave in silence and in the order in which you are sitting. You will then be escorted to a designated assembly point.
- Leave everything on your desk, and remember not to communicate with anyone else during the evacuation.
- When you return to the exam room do not start writing until the invigilator tells you to. You will be allowed the full working time for the exam and a report will be sent to the exam board detailing the incident.

Invigilators

- The school employs external invigilators to conduct the exam. You are expected to behave in a respectful manner towards all invigilators and follow their instructions.
- They are there to supervise the conduct of the exam. They will distribute and collect exam papers, hand out extra writing paper and deal with any problems that occur during the exam. They cannot discuss the exam paper with you or explain any of the questions.

Exam Room Rules

The following items MUST NOT BE BROUGHT INTO THE EXAM ROOM:

Mobile Phones

Smartwatches

Notes

Wrist watches that have data storage

Calculator Lids

iPods

Reading Pens

MP3/4 Players or similar device

Any other products with text/digital facilities

- All watch alarms are to be switched off
- Do not attempt to communicate or distract other students
- Exam regulations are very strict regarding items that may be taken into the exam room. If these rules are broken, you will face disqualification from the exam and potentially the whole qualification
- Do not write on exam desks
- Wrist watches must be removed and placed on your desk and visible to the invigilators
- Only one 500ml bottle of still water, in a clear bottle with the label removed is permitted for a written exam! (No fizzy/frozen drinks and no food!)
- No food and drink is permitted for on-screen exams
- You will not be allowed to leave an exam room early. If you have finished early, check over your answers and that you have completed your details correctly.

Malpractice

- If you are found with a mobile or other similar electronic device (e.g. iPod, MP3/4 player, Smartwatch) the following penalties can be applied:
 - Loss of marks from paper
 - Disqualification from unit or whole qualification if found using the device
- If you take part/cause any disruptive behaviour in the exam room or assessment (including using offensive language) you can receive:
 - Loss of marks from paper
 - Disqualification from unit or whole qualification if you ignore warnings, repeatedly comment offensively out loud etc.
- Talking in the exam room is not allowed! If you are found talking then you can receive:
 - Loss of marks from the paper (even if you not are talking about matters not related to the exam)
 - Disqualification from unit or qualification
- Written communication is not permitted and you can face:
 - Loss of marks from the paper (even if you are only accepting exam-related notes during the exam)
 - Disqualification from unit or qualification
- If you destroy/deface your exam paper you can be given:
 - Loss of marks from the paper
 - Disqualification from unit or qualification (if there is significant destruction of work)

After the Exams

Notification of Results

- You will be able to collect your results on Thursday 22nd August 2019 from 10.00am onwards
- If any other person (including family members) will be collecting your results on your behalf, please ensure they:
 1. Bring a letter from you (stating their full name) giving them authority to do so.
 2. Bring photo identification.
- No results will be given out by telephone or email under any circumstances.
- Results not collected will be sent out by first class post

Post-Results Services

- After the publication of results Herne Bay High School will carefully scrutinise all results and highlight any student(s) whose exam papers are very close to a higher grade and propose that a review of marking be considered. Your permission is needed for a review of marking to be submitted to the exam board(s).
- Senior staff will be available on the day if you wish to speak to them about this.

Collection of Certificates

- Exam certificates are usually ready for collection in late November. You will be advised in writing when they are available.
- Certificates will not be given to anyone other than yourself without your written authorisation.
- Herne Bay High School is only obliged to keep certificates for a period of one year after issue. If you do not collect your certificates within this time they are destroyed so an early collection is advisable.

Information for candidates

For written examinations - effective from 1 September 2018

This document has been written to help you. Read it carefully and follow the instructions.

If there is anything you do not understand, especially which calculator you may use, ask your teacher.

A Regulations – Make sure you understand the rules
1	Be on time for all your exams. If you are late, your work might not be accepted.
2	Do not become involved in any unfair or dishonest practice during the exam.
3	If you try to cheat, or break the rules in any way, you could be disqualified from all your subjects.
4	You must not take into the exam room: a) notes; b) potential technological/web enabled sources of information such as an iPod, a mobile phone, a MP3/4 player or similar device, a smartwatch or a wrist watch which has a data storage device. Any pencil cases taken into the exam room must be see-through. Remember: possession of unauthorised material is breaking the rules, even if you do not intend to use it, and you will be subject to penalty and possible disqualification.
5	If you wear a wrist watch the invigilator will ask you to remove it and place it on your desk.
6	Do not use correcting pens, fluid or tape, erasable pens, highlighters or gel pens in your answers.
7	Do not talk to or try to communicate with, or disturb other candidates once the exam has started.
8	You must not write inappropriate, obscene or offensive material.
9	If you leave the exam room unaccompanied by an invigilator before the exam has finished, you will not be allowed to return.
10	Do not borrow anything from another candidate during the exam.
B Information – Make sure you attend your exams and bring what you need
1	Know the dates and times of all your exams. Arrive at least ten minutes before the start of each exam.
2	If you arrive late for an exam, report to the invigilator running the exam.
3	If you arrive more than one hour after the published starting time for the exam, you may not be allowed to take it.
4	Only take into the exam room the pens, pencils, erasers and any other equipment which you need for the exam.
5	You must write clearly and in black ink. Coloured pencils or inks may only be used for diagrams, maps, charts, etc. unless the instructions printed on the front of the question paper state otherwise.
C Calculators, Dictionaries and Computer Spell-checkers
1	You may use a calculator unless you are told otherwise.
2	If you use a calculator: a) make sure it works properly; check that the batteries are working properly; b) clear anything stored in it; c) remove any parts such as cases, lids or covers which have printed instructions or formulas; d) do not bring into the exam room any operating instructions or prepared programs.
3	Do not use a dictionary or computer spell checker unless you are told otherwise.
D Instructions during the exam
1	Always listen to the invigilator. Follow their instructions at all times.
2	Tell the invigilator at once if: a) you think you have not been given the right question paper or all of the materials listed on the front of the paper; b) the question paper is incomplete or badly printed.
3	Read carefully and follow the instructions printed on the question paper and/or on the answer booklet.
4	Fill in all the details required on the front of the question paper and/or the answer booklet before you start the exam. Make sure you fill these details in on any additional answer sheets that you use.
5	Remember to write your answers within the designated sections of the answer booklet.
6	Do your rough work on the proper exam stationery. Cross it through and hand it in with your answers. Make sure you add your candidate details to any additional answer sheets that you use.
E Advice and assistance
1	If on the day of the exam you feel that your work may be affected by ill health or any other reason, tell the invigilator.
2	Put up your hand during the exam if: a) you have a problem and are in doubt about what you should do; b) you do not feel well; c) you need more paper.
3	You must not ask for, and will not be given, any explanation of the questions.
F At the end of the exam
1	If you have used more than one answer booklet and/or any supplementary answer sheets, place them in the correct order. Place any loose additional answer sheets inside your answer booklet. Make sure you add your candidate details to any additional answer sheets that you use.
2	Do not leave the exam room until told to do so by the invigilator.
3	Do not take from the exam room any stationery. This includes the question paper, answer booklets used or unused, rough work or any other materials provided for the exam.

Information for candidates Using social media and examinations/assessments

Image by Patrice Jones

This document has been written to help you stay within examination regulations. Please read it carefully.

We all like to share our experiences when taking examinations. However, it is important to consider what you say and to think about what information is being shared.

Sharing ideas with others online could be helpful when you're studying or revising. However, there are limits to the amount of information you can share and you need to be careful not to break the rules. We'd like to ask you to act responsibly when discussing online. If you're in doubt about what you can and can't discuss online regarding your exams, it's always best to check with your teacher.

If you receive what is or what looks to be assessment related information through social media, or any other means, you must tell your teacher or another member of staff. You must show them what you have received. They will then report the matter to the awarding body and it will be investigated.

Where candidates breach the rules for examinations, controlled assessments, coursework or non-examination assessments, awarding bodies have an obligation to investigate and may apply penalties.

Image by Ben Wight

You should be aware that the following might constitute malpractice:

- copying or allowing work to be copied – i.e. posting written work on social networking sites prior to an examination/assessment;
- collusion: working collaboratively with other candidates beyond what is permitted;
- allowing others to help produce your work or helping others with theirs;
- being in possession of confidential assessment related information in advance of the examination;
- exchanging, obtaining, receiving or passing on assessment related information by any means of communication (even if just attempting to);
- failing to report to your centre assessment related information being shared online; or
- passing on rumours of exam content.

Penalties that awarding bodies apply include:

- a written warning;
- the loss of marks for a section, component or unit;
- disqualification from a unit, all units or qualifications; or
- a ban from taking assessments or exams for a set period of time.

Please take the time to familiarise yourself with the JCQ rules:

Information for candidates: non-examination assessments

This document tells you about some things that you must and must not do when you are completing your work.

When you submit your work for marking, the awarding body will normally require you to sign an authentication statement confirming that you have read and followed these regulations.

If there is anything that you do not understand, you must ask your teacher or lecturer.

In some subjects you will have an opportunity to do some independent research into a topic. The research you do may involve looking for information in published sources such as textbooks, encyclopaedias, journals, TV, radio and on the internet.

Using information from published sources (including the internet) as the basis for your assignment is a good way to demonstrate your knowledge and understanding of a subject. You must take care how you use this material though - you cannot copy it and claim it as your own work.

The regulations state that: the work which you submit for assessment must be your own; you must not copy from someone else or allow another candidate to copy from you.

When producing a piece of work, if you use the same wording as a published source you must place quotation marks around the passage and state where it came from. This is called "referencing".

You must make sure that you give detailed references for everything in your work which is not in your own words. A reference from a printed book or journal should show the name of the author, the year of publication and the page number, for example: Morrison, 2000, pg.29.

For material taken from the internet, your reference should show the date when the material was downloaded and must show the precise web page, not the search engine used to locate it. This can be copied from the address line. For example: <http://www.geocases2.co.uk/rural1.htm> downloaded 5 February 2019.

You may be required to include a bibliography at the end of your piece of written work. Your teacher or lecturer will tell you whether a bibliography is necessary. Where required, your bibliography must list the full details of publications you have used in your research, even where these are not directly referred to, for example: Morrison, A. (2000) 'Mary, Queen of Scots', London: Weston Press.

If you copy the words or ideas of others and do not show your sources in references and a bibliography, this will be considered as cheating.

Preparing your work – good practice

If you receive help and guidance from someone other than your teacher, you must tell your teacher who will then record the nature of the assistance given to you.

If you worked as part of a group on an assignment, for example undertaking field research, you must each write up your own account of the assignment. Even if the data you have is the same, you must describe in your own words how that data was obtained and you must independently draw your own conclusions from the data.

You must meet the deadlines that your teacher gives you. Remember - your teachers are there to guide you. Although they cannot give you direct assistance, they can help you to sort out any problems before it is too late.

Take care of your work and keep it safe. Do not leave it lying around where your classmates can find it. You must always keep your work secure and confidential whilst you are preparing it; do not share it with your classmates. If it is stored on the computer network, keep your password secure. Collect all copies from the printer and destroy those you do not need.

Do not be tempted to use essays from on-line essay banks — this is cheating. Electronic tools used by awarding bodies can detect this sort of copying.

You must not write inappropriate, offensive or obscene material.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism involves taking someone else's words, thoughts or ideas and trying to pass them off as your own. It is a form of cheating which is taken very seriously.

Do not think you will not be caught; there are many ways to detect plagiarism.

- Markers can spot changes in the style of writing and use of language.
- Markers are highly experienced subject specialists who are very familiar with work on the topic concerned — they may have read or seen the source you are using (or even marked the essay you have copied from!).
- Internet search engines and specialised computer software can be used to match phrases or pieces of text with original sources and to detect changes in the grammar and style of writing or punctuation.

Penalties for breaking the regulations

If your work is submitted and it is discovered that you have broken the regulations, one of the following penalties will be applied:

- the piece of work will be awarded zero marks;
- you will be disqualified from that component for the examination series in question;
- you will be disqualified from the whole subject for that examination series;
- you will be disqualified from all subjects and barred from entering again for a period of time.

The awarding body will decide which penalty is appropriate.

GCE, ELC and Project qualifications - coursework assessments

This document tells you about some things that you must and must not do when you are completing coursework.

When you submit any coursework for marking, you will be asked to sign an authentication statement confirming that you have read and followed these regulations.

If there is anything that you do not understand, you must ask your teacher or lecturer.

Coursework provides you with an opportunity to do some independent research into a topic. The research you do will involve looking for information in published sources such as textbooks, encyclopaedias, journals, TV, radio and on the internet.

Preparing your coursework – good practice

If you receive help and guidance from someone other than your teacher, you must tell your teacher who will then record the nature of the assistance given to you.

If you worked as part of a group on an assignment, for example undertaking field research, you must each write up your own account of the assignment. Even if the data you have is the same, the description of how that data was obtained and the conclusions you draw from it should be in your own words.

Who we are and how to contact us

Each awarding body is a separate organisation. Your school or examination centre will be able to confirm to you which awarding body is delivering each qualification you are undertaking and you will receive a statement confirming what qualifications you have been entered for and which awarding body. You will find links to each awarding body's website and information on how to contact them here: www.jcq.org.uk/contact-us/contact-details-for-jcq-and-members.

Information about you and from where it is obtained

Each awarding body whose qualifications you enter will need to use a variety of information about you. This includes obvious identification details such as your name, address, date of birth and your school or examination centre. It also includes information about your gender, race and health, where appropriate. This information is provided by you or your parents/guardians and/or by your school or examination centre.

Each awarding body will create certain information about you such as a candidate number, examination results and certificates.

You will find further information about this in the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice (see links above) or by contacting the awarding body (see above).

What happens to the information about you

The awarding bodies use the information about you to deliver the examinations and assessments which you have entered. This includes making a variety of arrangements for you to sit the examinations or assessments, marking, providing you and your school or centre with results and certificates. The awarding bodies also use some of the information about you for equality monitoring and other statistical analysis.

The awarding bodies may share information about your results with official bodies such as the Department for Education and the examinations regulators (e.g. Ofqual in England) and also relevant local authorities and the Universities and Colleges Admissions Service (UCAS). An awarding body may also use information about you to investigate cheating and other examination malpractice and will share information about malpractice with other awarding bodies.

The awarding bodies take the security of the information about you that they hold seriously.

You will find further, technical information about what the awarding bodies do with information about you, why and the legal basis in the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice, which can be accessed here (see links on page one) or by contacting the awarding body (see above).

Your rights

The law gives you a number of rights in relation to the information about you that the awarding bodies holds.

Those rights are:

- Access – you are entitled to ask each awarding body about the information it holds about you.
- Rectification – you are entitled to ask each awarding body to correct any errors in the information that it holds about you.
- Erasure – in certain circumstances you are entitled to ask each awarding body to erase the information about you that it holds.
- Object to or restrict processing – in certain circumstances you are entitled to ask each awarding body to stop using information about you in certain ways.
- Complain – you are entitled to complain to the Information Commissioner (the body regulating the use of personal information) about what each awarding body does with information about you.

You will find further information about your rights in relation to information about you in the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice, which can be accessed here (see links on page one) or by contacting the awarding body (see above).

How long the information about you is held

Each awarding body retains information about you only for as long as it is needed. Some of the information is needed only during the period in which you are undertaking the examination or assessment and is securely destroyed a short while afterwards. Other information about you, such as your name, gender, address, qualification and subjects entered and the results, are held indefinitely and for at least 40 years.

Each awarding body has its own retention policy that sets out what information it retains, how it is retained and for how long. You can find out more about retention policies by contacting each awarding body (see above).

How to find out more about the information about you that the awarding bodies use

To find out more about the information about you that the awarding bodies collect and use, including what happens to that information why, you can review the awarding bodies' full Privacy Notice, which can be accessed here (see links on page one) or contact the awarding body. You will find links to each awarding body's website and information on how to contact them here: www.jcq.org.uk/contact-us/contact-details-for-jcq-and-members.

Please note

It is important to note that this notice concerns only how the awarding bodies use information about you (called your "personal data"). Complaints about how an awarding body handles your personal data can be made to the Information Commissioner (www.ico.org.uk). Information about the examinations and assessment themselves, including the rules about assessments, can be found on the JCQ Exams Office pages (www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office). The awarding bodies are regulated by Ofqual (<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofqual>) in England; Qualifications Wales (www.qualificationswales.org) in Wales, and the Council for the Curriculum, Examinations and Assessment (<http://ccea.org.uk/regulation>) in Northern Ireland.
